Tikipedia theme released

👤 Gary Cunningham-Lee - Tue 02 of May, 2006 06:42 GMT-0000 - (15765 Reads)

Undertaken to demonstrate the flexibility of Tiki CMS/Groupware page layout, the Tikipedia theme uses slightly modified Tiki template files, CSS, and new wiki plugins to emulate the well-known Mediawiki Monobook style. The theme package can be downloaded now from the New Themes gallery. Tikipedia_v1.0 has been tested with Tiki 1.9.2 and just-released 1.9.3.1.

The theme should be useful for those who like the very nice Mediawiki/Wikipedia look and page functionality but want or need the more comprehensive feature set that Tiki CMS/Groupware provides.

Please see the README-FIRST file included in the download, or visit How To Add a New Theme and Customizing_Tikipedia for information on installing and personalizing the theme.

Any problems should be reported in the New Themes forum, along with other feedback or suggestions, which are welcome. Have fun!